Developed in 2012, the It’s Time Texas Community Challenge, presented by HEB, mobilizes community members, schools, businesses, organizations, and mayors around healthy living and provides them with the tools and motivation to make health a part of their daily routine.

Over the 8-week competition, individuals earn points for their communities by participating in activities such as posting “healthy selfies,” organizing healthy group activities, hosting community events, signing pledges, and tracking physical activity.

Texans earned a total of 49,369,550 points for their communities in 2020.

The 2020 competition resulted in more community involvement, more participants and more healthy actions taken than ever before.

JUMPSTARTING A DAILY HEALTH ROUTINE

Texans shared stories about what inspired them to get involved and their motivation to keep going during and after the challenge.

“I value my community’s health. I hope to encourage more residents to be active and mindful of their health. I write and post my goals. I use a FitBit and come up with a variety of action plans that will encourage me to work on my goals daily, weekly, monthly. I write and post my goals. Don’t wait. Start now. Brainstorm all of the ways you can already make healthier choices and remember to celebrate those through daily and weekly reflections. Get a buddy.”

– Marcie, Garland

“Staying healthy and fit is important to me! I hope to challenge myself to be more active and develop a better awareness of my diet. I feel motivated and energized! I tell people what I’m doing and share the benefits of participating!!! You can realize your goals and improve your health if you take time each day to take note of the positive things you do each day and build on that success!!!”

– Karl, McAllen

95% of our post challenge survey respondents said they would recommend the Community Challenge to a friend.
“[I am] continuously working on building healthy habits, the Community Challenge supports me in this endeavor. Posting and logging helps me stay more focused, mindful, and aware of my activities and diet. My co-workers will tell you for the past ten years I have encouraged them to eat healthier and get active. It’s TIME to build new habits that promote health, happiness, and the energy to fully engage in life.”

– Jasmine, Waco

“This is an inspiring Challenge! I plan to achieve my goals of becoming fit at a higher level and am hoping to inspire others that no matter what age or fitness level one is at, one starts by doing. I am encouraging others by being an example. I would say to others to not only to do this challenge for their wellbeing. But, to do this Challenge for all their Loved ones. Be the CHANGE!”

– Irma, McAllen

95% of participants felt confident that they would continue progress towards their goal to be more active.

RIO GRANDE VALLEY: BUILDING EXCITEMENT AND HEALTH THROUGH COMMUNITY EVENTS

Within the Rio Grande Valley, hundreds of residents showed up to participate in numerous community events throughout the region - from Walks with the Mayor in Harlingen and McAllen to participant led events. It’s Time Texas collaborated with local community organizations, like the Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council, to drive excitement in these events.

The RGV region also kicked off the Community Challenge in January with a region unifying celebration and fitness event. The third annual RGV Fit Fest 5K & Mayors’ Walk for Wellness is an all-ages event where residents of the region come together to build morale and get active. In a region fighting to discard negative perceptions about its health, more than a dozen mayors showed up to encourage their constituents to get moving together.

“We really think it’s important for the Valley to come together, especially in a population that has a high rate of issues like diabetes, to become involved in events like this – to make it a yearly thing, a monthly thing, a weekly thing. Groups like ours, partner with organizations like It’s Time Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council in holding events like this and bringing awareness to a healthy lifestyle. It’s time to come out and get involved.”
- Rosendo, Team Red, White & Blue

“Walking and running really helps you because it makes you more active. I think working on your health is important so that later in life you can have more fun. It’s time Rio Grande Valley!” – Brandon

ABOUT IT’S TIME TEXAS

It’s Time Texas is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit empowering Texans to lead healthier lives and build healthier communities. Every day, we work alongside Texans committed to improving health within their homes, schools, workplaces, and communities. Our goal is a Texas where everyone – no matter where they live, their age, race, or income – has the resources, support, and opportunities to prioritize health and live their best life. Through programs and partnerships built to advance health on multiple fronts, we are shifting behaviors, practices, and policies to make health core to what it means to be a Texan. Together, we are igniting the movement for a healthier Texas. Join us at itstimetexas.org.
